Purpose of Certification

The Purpose of Certification for any professional community is to recognize, by way of the certification process, those who have acquired an acceptable level of training, skills and experience.

The Canadian Council of Professional Certification extends professional credentials to individuals indicating the levels reached in each category.

The Council encourages everyone having the required qualifications to apply.

Industry Partnerships

The Council welcomes new industries to join us in creating your own specific certification program. Please contact us to set up an exploratory meeting.

Also, we welcome the exchange of web links with those organizations who provide skills training and upgrading relevant to our established certificate programs.

The Benefits of Professional Certification

- Certification demonstrates your ongoing commitment to your professional growth and development
- Qualifying for certification validates your level of expertise to your clients and colleagues
- Improved qualifications provide suitability for moving into new positions
- Confirmation of work experience
- Employers and colleagues recognize you as having met higher standards
- Unifies / improves quality & training for the industry
- Opens doors
- Sets a standard of professional ethics
- Enhanced professional status provides recognition and an increased opportunity for advancement and higher pay scale

Canadian Council of Professional Certification

Our Focus Is

To provide the avenue for qualified persons who have studied, worked, and developed skills in their field of expertise to receive professional recognition.

To provide the public with confidence that certified professionals have attained an acceptable level of competency.

To provide certified professionals with encouragement and opportunity for continual education and professional development.

Who May Be Certified?

Any candidate may apply but must meet the "Standards Criteria" set by the examining board of the CCPC.

The application process provides the opportunity for the applicant to demonstrate adequate skill, knowledge and professional competence.

To request a specific certification manual and application contact your local CCPC office listed on the back of this brochure.

Who We Are?

The CCPC is a not-for-profit organization granting professional certification to those who qualify in a variety of disciplines.

Established in 1975 and operating under a Federal Charter, the CCPC is unique being the only Canadian body authorized to offer national and international certification to professionals in a given field of expertise.

Our Mission

- The Council's mission is to provide recognition to those professionals whose occupational activities meet the relevant criteria set out by experts in their field.
- To offer help and encouragement for the upgrading of standards within professional communities.

In fulfilling our Mission, the CCPC shall always observe and carry out the social and professional responsibilities of our role, operating with honesty, integrity and adhering to its established code of ethics.
